DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The 112 rejections have been withdrawn in light of the amendments filed on 11/02/2007. The examiner is not interpreting the cannula as a structural part of the device. The claims only require that the device is capable of inserting a cannula. The examiner notes that limitations of claim 2 further modify the cannula and are therefore not structural limitations of the device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7, 10-14, and 25-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Funderburk et al. (6,093,172). Funderburk discloses a device (10) for inserting a cannula (26) into tissue, comprising a protective element (28) capable of accommodating a cannula in a retracted position, an operating element (38, 78) for expelling the cannula, and a base body (94) removably connected (through pins 98) to the protective element, wherein the cannula is expelled from the protective element through an opening in the base body, wherein the cannula can include a holder, further comprising a needle (12) surrounded by the cannula, wherein the protective element can be disconnected from the base body after expulsion of the cannula, wherein the base body consists of a foundation body on a plaster, wherein the protective element is a frame which can partially or completely surround the cannula when fully retracted, and wherein the operating element prevents the connection between the protective element and the base body from being released before the cannula is expelled from the protective element and further comprising a rotational connection (98) for connecting the protective element to the base body. In regards to claims 25-34, the examiner is interpreting the cannula expelling element as elements (36, 38, and 84), the restoring element as element (36) and the triggering element as element (38).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7, 10-14, and 25-34 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The applicant has changed the scope of the claims which forced the examiner to change the interpretation of Funderburk. Applicant's arguments no longer apply.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
